THERE is no sympathy so helpful to a I family that is bereaved as that of true friends and no help so reassuring as that of the good funeral director. Acting in your stead, he understands that he must act in your spirit, performing each task with the reverer or and tenderness with which your own heads would perform it if they could. Sympathy which cannot be gracefully conveyed by words is revealed through his acts of service which bring the comforting assurance that every attention has been given with thoughtfulness and skill. Another Great Investor

Another great investor in first mortgages is the building and loan association. There are more than 8,000 such associations in the United States with than 4,300,000 persons. The total assets of these associations, constituted almost wholly of first mortgages on real property, now amount to approximately $2,500,000,000. There could be no better indication of the safety and other high investment qualities of first mortgage securities than the fact that these great financial institutions such as banks, insurance companies and building and loan associations have lendale) does hereby give notice placed billions of dollars of their money that it will, on the confirmation

Banks and insurance companies are experienced buyers of mortgages. They employ experts who make careful investigation to prevent investment losses. Today the individual investor in a position to invest his money in first mortgage securities with equal en on January 1, 1923. safety. There are reliable firms of inretsment bankers who make it their husiness to select good mortgage paper and sell it to their clients. In many cases the client relies absolutely on the banker's good judgment and honesty. Under these conditions, mortgages can be bought with perfect safety by the most inexperienced people. But be sure that the banker is a man or a firm of high integrity and unquestioned

For reasons which will be explained in later articles, the South offers higher rate of interest on mortgage security than most other sections of the country, but with no sacrifice of safety Recognizing this fact, people all over the United States are, at the time I am writing, pouring hundreds of thousands and millions of dollars into first mort rages and first mortgage bonds, chiefly the latter, secured by property in Southern cities. These investors are seizing an opportunity to get 7 and per cent with complete safety.

Mortgages were popular as investments long before corporation stocks and bonds were heard of. The intrinsic soundness of the security was early established, and today mortgages are lought and held by people who would not think of touching anything else. Their rules for testing the investment
